“Toward a healthy and happy Matsudo”

After a very lazy New Year I am determined to stay more active. To use an Australian analogy, I want to be a little less koala and a lot more kangaroo! The Nanakusa Marathon in January definitely got my heart pumping. It was my first ‘fun run’ so I was a little nervous, but once we hit the open road I felt fantastic. Supporters lined the streets, and happy hormones were coursing through my veins! Healthy cities are happy cities, so it was inspiring to see so many Matsudo locals recommit to their well-being early into 2016. Let’s keep moving this winter!
